MDN LEAVE POLICY

Last Updated on 24 November, 2018
Version 1.6

Important Note:

- Leave is not a matter of right. MDN Management has all the rights to approve and reject the leave based on exigencies of business or seriousness of the case.
- It is necessary to schedule the leave in advance and in a manner that balances both the individual's desires and MDN's need for appropriate coverage on projects.
- Employee's Manager/Reporting Authority can also cancel the once sanctioned leave on situational / need basis.
- Every year in the month of December, MDN publishes its General Holidays list for next Calendar year. General Holidays includes Mandatory and Choice Holidays.
- This document is only for MDN internal circulation.
- Management reserves the right to restructure or change the leave policy at any time at its sole discretion.

Introduction

- Mandatory Holidays are published in MDN Holiday List.

Number of leave days

- There are Ten (10) Mandatory Holidays.

Eligibility

- All employees, including part-time employees will enjoy these leave benefits.

Process

- This leave does not require any processing.

Accumulation

- This leave cannot be accumulated.

Encashment

- This leave is not encashable.

2. Choice Holidays (CH)

Introduction

- Choice Holidays are published in MDN Holiday List.

Number of leave days

- Maximum two among the declared can be availed subject to the following eligibility.

Eligibility

- All employees, including part-time Employees, who have completed 6 months of service, are eligible to avail any two choice holidays out of the 14 declared in the MDN Holiday List.
- All employees, including part-time Employees, who have not completed 6 months of service, are eligible to avail any one choice holiday out of the 14 declared in the MDN Holiday List.

Process

- Employees should submit the leave application from the website <https://in.manipal.net/mdnhrm> in prescribed format in advance to his or her Manager or Reporting Authority for approval.

Accumulation

- Unused choice holidays will be credited to your Earned Leave (EL) account, as long as the total number of ELs is within the maximum limit.

Encashment

- Unused CH is converted to EL and can be encashed as per EL encashment rules.

3. Earned Leave (EL)

Introduction

- Various types of leave are clubbed together to form a single category called Earned Leave (EL).
- Earned Leaves are in addition to the General and Choice Holidays approved by MDN.

Number of leave days

- All employees can earn a maximum of 12 (twelve) days EL in a calendar year
- An employee can avail long leave only once in any 12 (twelve) month period (gap between two long leaves), subject to availability and approval. A leave is defined as long leave if it is 7 days or more at one stretch. The maximum duration of long leave is limited to 18 days. A long leave is granted under the assumption that the employee will serve a minimum of 3 months after returning from the long leave.

Eligibility

- EL is calculated on a month-on-month basis throughout the Calendar year (1st January to 31st December). In other words, an employee earns one EL per month and is credited on the last day of the month (just like receiving salary).
- Additional EL days, as long as they are within the maximum limit, may be granted by employee's Manager/Reporting Authority, in recognition of excess hours put in during critical project needs. Number of such additional days and their allocation are completely at the discretion of the Manager/Reporting Authority.
- Balance ELs cannot be adjusted against the notice period during termination or resignation from services

Process

- Employees should submit the leave application from the website <https://in.manipal.net/mdnhrm> in the prescribed format in advance to his or her Manager or Reporting Authority for approval, unless it is an emergency. Furnish all the details like leave period and valid reason for leave along with contact number. Employees must apply and get approval in advance. The advance period is as follows:

Length of Leave	Advance notification period
1 day or half day	1 day in advance
More than 1 day and upto 3 days	1 week in advance
More than 3 days and upto 5 days	2 weeks in advance
More than 5 days	4 weeks in advance

Accumulation

- If you are unable to use all your accrued ELs during a Calendar year, unused EL will be carried forward to the next Calendar year subject to unencashed.
- Leave policy allows accumulation of earned leave without lapse. This is applicable even when an employee's employment status changes from Temporary to Probationary period or extension of the same.
- Part-time employees can also accumulate 1 EL at the end of every month. However, these are really part-time ELs, corresponding to the employee's work commitment. For instance, if a part-time employee is working at MDN at 50% commitment, the ELs are really 50% ELs.
- When the part-time employee requests leave for a certain number of days, the EL balance will reduce by the corresponding number of days.
- If the part-time employee changes from part time to full time, the accumulated EL will be correspondingly adjusted.

Encashment

- Accumulated leave can be encashed once a year by applying through Email before December 31st. The amount encashed will be awarded on the last working day of the subsequent month of January.
- An employee on the rolls can encash up to maximum of 18 days accumulated ELs, subject to availability of ELs on the date of encashment.
- Accumulated leave can also be encashed while leaving the company upon retirement. In this case, an employee can apply for all of the accumulated ELs on the last working day in the company. The amount encashed will be awarded on the last calendar day of the following month.
- Accumulated leave encashed while leaving the company for reasons other than retirement shall be applied for on the last working day in the company - however the amount of encashable leave that may be applied in such a context shall be limited to the leaves accumulated in that calendar year (exclusive of leaves accumulated during the previous December). The amount encashed will be awarded on last calendar day of the following month.
- If a part-time employee chooses to encash the earned leave, the corresponding part-time nature of the EL will be used in computing the encashment.
- Encashable amount is computed using gross salary (Monthly Gross Salary*/26 X Encashable Leave), and is not based on CTC.

* Gross salary = Only Basic, DA, HRA and Special Allowance salary components included. Variable performance allowance (VPA), or other components not explicitly listed here, are not included.
